Plasma actuators are a type of actuator currently being developed for aerodynamic flow control. Plasma actuators impart force in a similar way to ionocraft. The working of these actuators is based on the formation of a low-temperature plasma between a pair of asymmetric electrodes by application of a high-voltage AC signal across the electrodes. Consequently, air molecules from the air ...

In 2000, fishermen reported the appearance of deformed reproductive organs in whitefish (Coregonus spp.) from Lake Thun, Switzerland. Despite intensive investigations, the causes of these abnormalities remain unknown. Using gene expression profiling, we sought to identify candidate genes and physiological processes possibly associated with the observed gonadal deformations, in order to gain ...

Fig. 1 shows a long degradation process of an impending fault in a machine, where an initial defect continues to proliferate, and eventually reaches a critical condition that causes the machine failure. We can conceptualize the task of diagnostics as an in-depth exploration of the failure to identify the leading cause after it has occurred, while prognostics is to investigate the problem ...
